Quality—Unlike items that people purchase often during the year, it can be difficult for you to judge the quality in a pair of glasses. We use the finest frames and lenses available so that your glasses will be dependable and attractive long after they've been purchased.

Value—Good value in eyewear is receiving quality at a fair price. Our fees reflect the quality of our workmanship, yet they are generally lower than “discount” or “one-hour” stores.

Expert Staff—Our competent and caring staff of trained professionals give you personalized care to suit your needs from frame selection to explanations of lens options. Your comfort and satisfaction are important to us. We will do all we can to make sure you're happy with your glasses.

Selection—We offer a large selection of frames to choose from. Our experienced staff will help you to select the frame shape, size, and color that looks best on you.

Lens Options—There are many new lens designs and lens treatments which can make your glasses look thinner, feel lighter, and glare-free. We'll demonstrate and explain all the latest developments that would be appropriate for your new glasses.

Warranty—We guarantee all eyeglasses for one year. There is no extra charge for a warranty and no additional fees if the frame or lenses need to be replaced. We take the worry out of wearing glasses.

Convenience—To accommodate your busy schedule, we are open six days a week with evening and Saturday hours.

What does “Consumer Reports” say about the best place to buy eyeglasses?

...If you're like the 71,000 readers who told us about buying their glasses, you'll probably be happier with an individual optometrist than a chain store...

“...Independent optometrists who sell glasses as a sideline generally pleased readers more than did the big optical chains. They also offered glasses at prices that were competitive with the large chains...”

“...Almost half the readers who bought glasses at one of the big optical chains complained they paid more than they expected to... almost half of those who bought glasses from a big chain had to return at least once because of a problem with the spectacles...”

“...Readers examined by private optometrists generally found the examination very thorough; those examined at optical chains were much less likely to feel they had a very thorough exam...”
